Life

Oh, how our lives have been planned out,
Until eighteen without a doubt.
School, college, clubs and games,
Long- standing traditions, pre- given names.
Identity given and taken away,
Being yourself at the end of the day.
Parents, teachers, sisters, brothers,
All caring for you like most others.
Degrees, qualifications, aims and traditions,
Trying to fulfill dreams and ambitions,
Constant reminders of glory to come,
We will touch others, i.e., only some.
Remember your success is all up to you
It's all yours, what will you do?

SUPERINTENDENTS MESSAGE

Roy E. Belson
Superintendent Of Schools

As you graduate from high school you will be presented with many opportunities to further your education, explore career paths, expand your circle of friends and make contributions to the world in which you live. Enjoy the ride, savor the adventure and learn from your experiences. Set priorities for yourself so that you may focus your energies on those opportunities that will be the most rewarding to you. It will be equally important to figure out what you don't want in your life. In fact, it may be more important to acquire habits which allow you to discard those aspects of your world which only clutter up your mind and life and block your access to inner peace and harmony. Don't rush to make this judgment, but don't procrastinate either since freeing yourself of unnecessary and unworthy activities and obligations can open your world wide to the simple joys that abound in the natural world and in the human experience.

Too often we confuse convenience with betterment. Our world has become too fast faced and materialistic. Henry David Thoreau wrote, "The secret of happiness isn't getting more, but rather wanting less." Determine what is really important to you. Don't deny yourself true opportunity, assistance or pleasure, but free yourself from the burdens of excess baggage. Eliminate the accumulated clutter of your travels that cannot serve you well. As the pundit said, "Kiss . . . Keep it simple, stupid." In the words of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, "In character, in manners, in style, in all things, the supreme excellence is simplicity." The great Greek Philosopher Plato contributes, "Beauty of style and harmony and grace and good rhythm depend on simplicity."

For too many finding the way to lead a productive and beautiful simple life is the most complicated task. Start early and renew your commitment regularly. Congratulations on your achievements now and in the future. Best wishes for an uncluttered life that is beautiful, good and true.

HEADMASTER'S ADDRESS

Not so many years ago when I was a high school English teacher, I taught writing, as well as the other aspects of the curriculum. Writers - so the best practice would have it - do their best when they have a real audience and real occasion to write for.

Although in a way I have a real audience before me now, in another way I don't. I realize that the students I know as I'm writing this piece in March will change dramatically by the end of the school year. In many cases, college acceptances have not yet arrived, and job placements have not yet been confirmed. On the one hand, several students don't know how many Advanced Placement exams they'll ace; on the other hand, some students aren't really sure whether they'll be graduating at all this year.

While it is uncomfortable writing to people who don't really exist yet, from a different perspective it is nevertheless appropriate and realistic. After all, even in June when you can answer the question "What are you doing after graduation?" with some degree of confidence, the truth of the matter is that, in almost all cases, you don't know what the future holds for you. For those going directly into the workforce after graduation, your job and your field will probably change several times over the next decade. For those going to college, your major will probably shift at least once over the next four years, and the career you're contemplating now will most likely not be the one you'll choose when you're in your thirties or forties.

In this sea of uncertainty, it is comforting to reflect on your high school years. Now and throughout your life, you will reminisce about the classmates who helped you define yourself at one point in your life and who taught you the meaning of loyalty, honesty and friendship. You will remember your teachers who devoted their lives to helping you become mature, responsible, and thoughtful adults. And you will remember the many others - counselors, coaches, secretaries, advisers, and administrators - who helped to mold you into the person you will have become.

Congratulations on your many accomplishments over the past four years. And best wishes as you continue on life's long and wonderful journey.

Paul H. Krueger, Ed.D.
Headmaster

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

The sudden death of our Director, Mr. Lawrence Volpe, not only presented us with many challenges, but also leaves us with many thoughts. First, the dignity and strength in which Mr. Volpe dealt with his illness demonstrates the true meaning of character and serves as an example to each of us.

Secondly, the word commitment can be closely associated with Mr. Volpe. Mr. Volpe was truly committed and devoted to his family, the Medford Vocational School, and the City of Medford. Unfortunately, in today's society commitment of this kind is rare. So, if I can impart one thought to you in Mr. Volpe's memory it is that you commit yourself in life. Commit yourself to your family. Commit yourself to your work. Commit yourself to your community. If you endeavor to do your best in these areas I'm sure will you will be successful.

Finally, I wish each of you the very best as you graduate. Learn from the lessons that were taught and from the challenges that were presented. I am confident that you are well prepared to meet the future.

DEDICATION

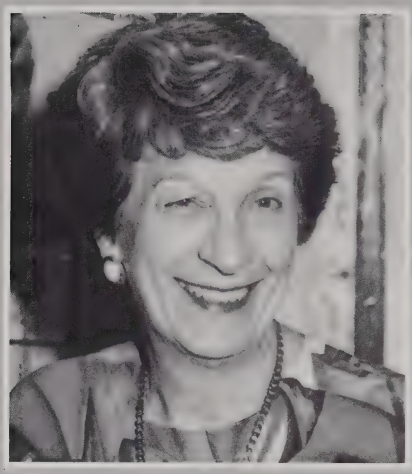

In 1980, Medford High School hired a dedicated educator and wonderful person. Her career at Medford High School began in the Business Education Department. After seven years Ms. Lola Lombardo became a Guidance Counselor.

As the class of 2000 we were lucky to have Ms. Lombardo as our guidance counselor. She took us in as freshman with open and caring arms. She was always there to guide us through with a smile. Her dedication to our class is remarkable. Ms. Lombardo helped us figure out our problems, fix our schedules, choose the right path for after high school, and just get through these long, but full filling four years.

She helped us get this far and become the people we are today. She has meant so much to everyone, and for that we could not thank her enough.

Thank you Ms. Lombardo, we love you!

IN MEMORY

Lawrence R. Volpe

Lawrence R. Volpe exemplified all at is best about vocational education. arry was a product of the Medford hool system, having graduated from edford High School in 1966. For the st thirty years, his talent, wisdom, d professionalism have been dedited to serving the youth of Medford. More than anything else, Larry was a okie." Former students remember m as an inspiring history teacher at e vocational school. Many also reember him as a demanding yet just skmaster when he became assistant rector. Ten years ago, when he asmed the position of director of the cational school, Larry Volpe finally d the opportunity to devote his conerable talent and his boundless engy to furthering the cause of vocanal education, a cause he believed in rvently.

Larry Volpe loved his job! Every orning he stood near the front door to eet students and teachers as they me in. His greetings were always apopriate: sometimes a smile, sometnes a joke, sometimes a reminder, metimes a reprimand. He added that uch of the personal that transforms ucation from a necessity into a joy.

Not only did Larry love his job, he exlled at it. Under his tutelage, countss vocational students discovered latent abilities. Under his tutelage, those same students discovered the rewards aped by those who study, work, and persevere. During his years of service to the vocational school, Larry Volpe d the pleasure of seeing vocational students take their knowledge, their skills, and their commitment out into the mmunity. Medford has been enriched by the students he inspired.

Yet even the Medford Vocational School ranked second in Larry Volpe's life. His first love was his family - his fe Anne, his daughters Kelly and Laura, and his granddaughter Nicole. Their pictures covered the walls of his ofe; his love for them informed his affection for all children. To Larry Volpe, the vocational school was an extenon of his family.

Family, school, and community have been diminished by the death of Larry Volpe. Yet, Larry was the type of rson who perceived life, not in terms of a series of endings, but rather a series of new beginnings. His legacy will e on through the lives of the students whom he welcomed into his "vocational family."

The 1999 team consists of thirteen graduates: Tri-Captains Chris Dobbins, Rico Dicenso, and Stephen Chausse led the mustangs with the help of the fellow seniors: Greg Gianino, Erik Nevers, Vlad Louis, Jacky Ingram, John Fichera, John Pasquale, Mike Iraci, Ryon Sullivan, Kevin Cunniff and Brad Roche. The turning point of the season was the discovery of Vlad Louis as a tailback. He ignited the Mustang offense and gained serious yards behind a tough and relentless offensive line in the latter part of the season. The highlights of the season were the comeback against No. Quincy in the season opener and the momentous Thanksgiving Day victory. The Mustangs lit up Malden for 37 points and knocked the golden tornadoes around all day. This victory proved to be quite an accomplishment for Coach Buldini and his boys. The 1999 Mustangs close out chapter in Medford football history as the team to tie the Medford-Malden series 51-51 with 10 ties. This accomplishment allows Medford to take the lead in the series to kickoff the new millennium.

The 1999-2000 Golf Team experienced some tough breaks even before the season started. Due to transfers, and people choosing not to play for academic reasons, we lost our projected number 3, 4, 5, and 6 players. We responded by putting together a very competitive team, anchored by three seniors.

Number one player Capt. Joe Perry was everything he had to be. He played "the best" every match. Joe came through with a very strong 2 & 3 record, with a 38.7 strike average. Amanda Stagliano, a three-year player and the only female varsity player in the Greater Boston League, hit the jackpot. She finished the year with an outstanding 5-4-1 record and a 46.1 strike average, golfing at #5 most of the year. Amanda deserves our special thanks for sticking with the sport through very trying times and, thank goodness, getting her just records. First year player Keith Hourihan came out as a senior and inherited the #3 spot. Wins & losses should not measure his contribution to the team. His 44.2 strike average was good for a first year player but due it circumstances he had to play too high in the order. He is a team player and played when we needed him. Thank you Keith!

The season ended by loosing to Everett high in a close match at Mt. Hood. A mid-season loss to Arlington, 36.5 to 35.5, at Winchester Country Club was the difference between a tournament appearance at 6 & 6 and a season ending 4 & 6 record.

Thinking back about the 99-2000 season I have to say both Asst. Coach Kevin Hickey and myself feel a lot satisfaction and appreciation towards the team. The attitude and competitive nature of the people who make up the team was outstanding. It was a pleasure.

Thank You! Assist. Coach Kevin Hickey, and Head Coach Frank Jewett

The most memorable meet, and a turning point in the season, was the last meet of the season against Everett. Entering into the second to last event, Medford and Everett were tired. Medford dug in, pulled together, and showed their Mustang pride and won the meet. It was an exhilarating moment!
